While Photoshop may be used by professionals in a variety of fields, from journalism to graphic design, to web and video work, to fine art and photography, it has found its niche as the image-editing tool of choice in the graphic arts and design fields. However, even graphic design work can vary in scope from project to project, requiring varying skills and a variety of tools. Photoshop is one of the best tools available for transforming an art piece from concept to final results. The Adobe Photoshop CC package is basically the premium version of Adobe Photoshop, but it also has an easy-to-use drag-and-drop editing window, more tools and functions that are handy for making changes to large, high-resolution images, and more features. You can find other tutorials that cover the full Adobe Photoshop CC package, but for the purposes of this article, we've chosen to cover the features you'll need the most frequently and the Photoshop CS6 tools you'll find in the package. It's common when you enter a Photoshop software program that there is an additional "guide" or button that opens in front of the open screen. The Adobe CS6 tutorials will walk you through the main features of Photoshop and explain what they are used for and how to use them. Note that this is a guide to the newer CS6 Photoshop. There are older versions of Photoshop and they vary in functionality, so check the current documentation for the version you want to use. In the following sections, we'll cover Photoshop's essential features and how to use them.

A beginner's Photoshop guide on the steps to create a very basic logo. Beginners often use Photoshop Elements for many basic tasks like applying filters, rotating and cropping images, and etc. The recent change from Adobe Photoshop to Photoshop Elements has made many processes that were available in Photoshop much simpler in Photoshop Elements. Use this guide to learn how to create a simple logo in Photoshop Elements. Getting Started

The first step to creating a logo is to open the file you wish to work with. We will use a jpg image (vector-based graphics) file called blank.jpg. If you open the file blank.jpg in Photoshop Elements, you will see a dialog box and can import blank.jpg as a new file. Make sure you turn on the “ask me every time” option. When importing files into Photoshop Elements, the dialog box will ask if you want to replace your current copy. If you want to replace the current file, select “replace my current copy.”

a fun competition for all of us and for all of you! We'll be selecting a winner and sending you a trophy! You will need to send us the trophy in the mail to: Or, if you are local, you can come and pick it up! Please be sure to include your name and ship address to claim the prize. We'll send the trophy out ASAP after that. Good luck! ... but wait, there's more! For those of you that have already entered the contest, I have posted a new set of bonus challenges for you! I have taken some of the comments made by some of the group members and thought, "Hey, I bet some of you would be interested in doing these challenges!" so I have decided to host a series of challenges to test your skills even further! I will be posting these as a free pdf that will download from my website. It will contain the new challenges and a list of all of the challenges in the series. We will be selecting a winner to get the series free, so be sure to check the site for updates! UPDATE ON THE GROUP: I've been away from the group for the past month due to being hospitalized. I tried to resend the newsletter through the old newsletter site but it didn't work for some reason and I didn't have time at the time to try and figure out how to get it back up. I'm working on getting it all back up as I go through this site and e-mail people. I'm going to start up the group again in the summer. I'm going to start a new design for the site and add the videos and pages back in. I'll also be updating the newsgroup software and getting the whole site up and running. I am also going to put a link to this site back on top of the newsletter site. If you don't have time to look at it, just go to It's located in the right column if you scroll down. I want to extend a special thanks to the entire group for making Galaxy Trekking such a wonderful site. I know this just scratches the surface, but I'm going to keep it this way for the rest of the year and see what happens in the summer. I don't want to get in the way of your fun! See you in the summer! THE WINNERS OF THE STAR TREK KID'
