Digital audio and podcasts are rapidly growing across Europe. In the UK, podcast ad spend has grown year-over-year by 61%, and streaming has grown 56%.² As digital audio content consumption continues to grow, buyers are eager to tap into this medium to reach engaged listeners but require more efficient ways to transact across multiple audio publishers and at scale. Audi's map navigation is built with our unique data-driven discovery platform that offers multiple audiences cross-category campaigns and offers an intelligent approach for advertisers to match advertisers to podcasts. Audiomap audio and digital advertisers can identify their core audience preferences and tactics, and run profitable campaigns as efficiently and as nimbly as possible. Visit europanavigation.eu for more information. After registering for an account you can view the full application of our digital road map on Android, Windows Phone, iPhone, iPad, and all other devices as long as they support HTML5. The enterprise edition of the europanavigation.eu digital road map allows you to define your boundaries in the system. If you want to have access to the EU-wide territory of Europe for example you can set it to the EU-wide territory setting in the account or by using the custom territory setting form of the integration platform. You can also define custom regions for which you can view the region wide data (e.g. the 1st level of address geometry), set its extent to only update the specific region or not at all, and choose whether you want to see the region within the map or not. You can also set specific maps, such as Denmark map you can download, and include them into the geospatial map service and integrate them to it. You can also define other region specific settings.
