If I had a List called listBusinessObjects and I wanted to manipulate this list in one thread, while another thread could read it at the same time, I would use the following: class ThreadingManager { private Queue listBusinessObjects; private readonly List _threads; public ThreadingManager() { _threads = new List(); listBusinessObjects = new Queue(); } public void StartThread(Action action) { Thread thread = new Thread(action); thread.IsBackground = true; thread.Start(); _threads.Add(thread); } public IEnumerable GetData() { foreach (var thread in _threads) { BusinessObjectsToQueue(listBusinessObjects); // Stops all threads listBusinessObjects.Dequeue(); // Notify new thread has data listBusinessObjects.Enqueue(new BusinessObject()); _threads.Remove(thread); } return listBusinessObjects; } } using System; using System.Collections.Concurrent; using System.Threading; class Program { static void Main() { var threadingManager = new ThreadingManager(); threadingManager.StartThread(() => { foreach (var businessObject in new List()) { Console.5ec8ef588b
